

April 19 - 23, 2009

A Florida courts training seminar for secondary public and private school teachers

APPLICATION FORM

sponsored by

The Supreme Court of Florida

The Honorable Peggy A. Quince, Chief Justice

55% of Florida citizens surveyed could not name even one of the branches of government

Only 34% of those surveyed claimed to be at least generally familiar with Florida's court system

Nearly 40% of the survey respondents wanted more information about Florida courts and procedures

Are you surprised by these results of a statewide public opinion research project completed by the Florida Judicial Management Council? The Florida Supreme Court was. The Court responded by implementing the Justice Teaching Institute for secondary public and private school teachers. The 2009 Justice Teaching Institute will be held April 19-23, 2009 at the Supreme Court Building in Tallahassee.

This Institute offers an up-close examination of the workings of the judicial branch of government. Through meetings with Supreme Court Justices and other judges, interactive activities, simulations, and group discussions, participants will explore the concept of justice, debate topical legal issues, and develop techniques and strategies for teaching students and other educators about the nature, history, organization, and process of the Florida justice system.

Application Deadline
February 20, 2009

What is the Justice Teaching Institute (JTI)?

JTI is a law-related education program sponsored by the Florida Supreme Court, with The Florida Bar, The Florida Bar Foundation, and the Florida Law Related Education Association, Inc. also providing support. Participants experience a wide range of sessions with Supreme Court Justices and other judges and participate in many interactive activities. As participants encounter relevant examples of the justice system in action, they will be better equipped to convey information to the classroom so that students will see the importance of the judicial process. For additional information, visit our web site at: <http://www.floridasupremecourt.org/education/index.shtml>

Who Can Apply?

Any secondary level teacher (grades 6 - 12) in Florida may apply. Twenty-five secondary level public and private school teachers, chosen from numerous applicants by a selection committee, participate each year.

What are the Program Highlights?

Participants will enjoy an opening reception with the Supreme Court Justices and other judges, a tour of the Supreme Court, mock oral arguments, interactive activities, and an opportunity to network with educators from around the state who are interested in the justice system. Participants are honored with certificates recognizing them as Justice Teaching Institute Fellows, signed by Chief Justice Peggy A. Quince.

What is the Participant's Cost?

In accordance with state guidelines, the Institute covers related travel expenses incurred by participants and the cost of a substitute teacher.

Will Participants Receive In-Service Credit?

TEC credits for the Institute may be available. Please check with your school district.

Following the Institute, Participants will be Better Equipped to:

- ⇒ Teach others with confidence about the nature, history, structure, function, and processes of the courts and judiciary;
- ⇒ Implement strategies for effectively teaching legal concepts and systems; Utilize technology to teach law-related subjects;
- ⇒ Identify legal research resources available to assist in preparing and presenting law-related lessons and activities; and
- ⇒ Apply constitutional knowledge and principles to judicial decision making.
